SECTION - C*12. Compulsory Case Study.*(1×15=15)

Nexa Tech Solutions, a mid-sized IT services firm in Bengaluru, has grown rapidly in five years. However, it is now facing a high employee turnover-especially among software engineers with 2-4 years of experience. Despite offering competitive salaries, employees often leave for startups offering flexible work, skill development opportunities, and visible career paths.

HR Challenge:

- * Employees cite lack of recognition, limited training, and unclear career progression as reasons for exit.
 - * Exit interviews reveal that mid-level managers lack coaching skills.
 - * The HR department has strong administrative capabilities but weak analytics and HR metrics for predicting attrition.
- a) What HRM issues are evident in this case?
 - b) How can Training and Development and Career Management help in reducing attrition?
 - c) Suggest a Compensation and Performance Management system that could improve employee motivation.
 - d) What steps can HR take to strengthen employee relations and create a positive work environment?
 - e) If NexaTech expands globally, what IHRM strategies should it adopt to retain and manage talent?
