Strategic HR at Infosys- Balancing Talent and Transformation

Infosys, one of India's leading IT services companies, operates in a highly dynamic and competitive environment. With the rapid pace of digital transformation, automation, and client demands for innovative solutions, Infosys had to redesign its HR strategy to maintain its leadership in the knowledge economy.

The HR team shifted from traditional HR operations to a strategic partnership model-integrating HR with business planning and decision-making. The company focused on three strategic priorities:

- I. Talent Reskilling: Upskilling 200,000 employees in digital, AI, and analytics to remain relevant.
- II. Performance Management Transformation: Introducing a continuous feedback system instead of annual appraisals.
- III. Global Talent Mobility: Encouraging cross-border assignments and flexible work policies.

Despite these initiatives, the organization faced barriers such as employee resistance to change, global compliance issues, and cost implications of large-scale reskilling programs.

- a) Identify and explain the strategic HR initiatives undertaken by Infosys in response to a changing business environment.
 - b) How does the Infosys case reflect the principles of Strategic HRM investment perspective?
 - c) Discuss how HR's role as a strategic business partner is visible in this case.
 - d) Suggest measures to overcome the barriers to effective SHRM implementation in such global organizations.
